Checkpoint for Major Continuation:

Submit research paper and unofficial transcript to the musicology faculty; complete an interview with a member of that faculty; complete WR 121 and the Music Core with a grade of C- or better.

To establish that satisfactory progress is being made in the History and Culture concentration of the Music major, students must successfully complete the major coursework with a grade of C- or better in the required courses. In anticipation of their senior portfolio, students should identify at least one completed final course project that might form part of this portfolio before their senior year. For questions about your progress through the concentration, please see the undergraduate music advisor.

IV. Senior Portfolio

All History and Culture majors must compile a portfolio of completed work for approval by at least two area faculty members. Submission of the portfolio must coincide with or follow one term of MUS 499: Senior Project. The portfolio should contain the equivalent of four pieces of completed work, roughly equivalent to 45 pages of material, unified through a statement of purpose. These may be a combination of polished term papers, recorded lecture-performances, blogs/websites, other media for public consumption, or simply a thesis. Students should be in consultation with their MUS 499 instructor to ensure that the portfolio meets the standard of quality required for the major.
